3.11 Painting in Acrylic or Oil with Jane McIntyre

jane.mcintyre@comcast.net

This class emphasizes the principles of painting including design, form, and color theory. All levels welcomed. Different styles are encouraged and explored using a variety of media, based on each student's preference. Watercolor, oil, acrylic, and pastel all follow the same principles of color and design with unique applications for each. Subject matter ranges from still life, landscape, portrait, figure, animals, or abstract while exploring different styles and historical perspective.

I encourage some study of direct observation to teach basic principles and then the student's artistic interest guides their own course of study. Each class will offer instruction in some practical principles of the art process or relevant artist examples. Please contact me for questions and stop by to observe classes.
